EIGHT DEAD AND SCORE INJURED IN HOLOCAUST

Arizona Circus Rider Charged
With Firing Salvation Army Home for Men in Cincinnati.

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.]
Cincinnati, Dec. 15.—Eight persons are dead and a score are suffering from injuries as a result of the fire which destroyed the Salvation Army home for men here early today. Several of the injured are in a serious condition. Among the dead were Arthur Sandell of Bangor, Maine, bookkeeper and clerk of the home, and T. Shodell, believed to work in this city. The other six have not been identified.

There were 150 beds in the building at which forty-five were occupied by the employees of the Salvation Army. Every one of the employees except Shodell escaped. Almost all of the other beds were occupied by lodgers. A charge of incendiarism was placed against a man who gave the name of Frank Meyer. He claimed to be a circus rider and said he last lived in Arizona. The property loss is estimated at $52,000.

WANTED IN SANTA FE FOR ABANDONING WIFE

Hilario Montoya, of Santa Fe, who has been staying in Old Albuquerque for several weeks, was arrested this afternoon by the local sheriff's office at the request of Sheriff Charles Johnson of Santa Fe county. He will be taken to Santa Fe tomorrow on a charge of having abandoned his family.

Wreaths for Washington's Tomb.
Alexandria, Va., Dec. 15.—In commemoration of the 11th anniversary of George Washington's death three memorial wreaths were placed on his tomb at Mount Vernon by delegations representing the Alexandria-Washington lodge of Masons, the Masonic lodge of Fredericksburg and Washington lodge No. 21, of New York city. Washington was made a Mason in the Fredericksburg lodge and he was the first master of the Alexandria lodge, while the New York lodge was named after him.

LIVE BARGAINS AT POWELL DRUG STORE

Fortunate Purchase of Comprehensive Sample Lines of Gift Goods Enables Company to Make Attractive Offerings.

One of the most attractive bargain opportunities ever offered to holiday shoppers will be extended by the Powell Drug company. Fourth and Central, during the closing days of the holiday season. The Powell company, through fortunate circumstances was able to purchase at very low prices a large and comprehensive sample line of holiday and gift goods and these are going to be sold almost at cost, as indicated in document to custom. The line includes such staple and favorite Christmas gifts as toilet sets, cut glass, hand-painted china, majolica sets, Parian ivory and many other attractive lines.

Another feature of the Powell Christmas stock this season is a splendid assortment of the choicest perfumes ever brought into New Mexico.

MATTHEWS-TORRES FIGHT POSTPONED

Because of the fact that Pierre Matthews, matched to fight Jack Torres at the New Mexico Athletic club gymnasium tomorrow night, is suffering with severe lumbago in his neck, and because his doctor considers it dangerous for him to go into the ring against a man like Torres in his present condition, the bout for tomorrow night has been postponed until Christmas or a later date to be announced as soon as Matthews has recovered.

BERNALILLO HELPS OUT THE STATE TREASURY

The state treasury will be helped on its way a little tomorrow when a check from county treasurer, Mike Mandell, reaches the state treasurer, for $2,697.195. This is the state's share of the delinquent taxes paid last week by the Albuquerque banks. The county treasurer this morning received a check for $4,500 from the state treasurer, being this county's portion of the last school fund apportionment.

CHARGES NEIGHBOR WITH SWIPING HIS RANGE

Candido Gonzales Seeks Injunction to Restrain Emeritio Montoya From Infringing on His Pastures.

Candido G. Gonzales of Sandoval county yesterday filed suit in the district court against Emeritio Montoya of the same county asking the court to grant an injunction restraining the defendant from grazing sheep on a large tract of land in that county which Gonzales claims he holds under lease both from the wealthy sheep men of the northern county. Gonzales alleges that Montoya has persistently run upwards of 2,000 head of sheep on the tract in question, using up both grass and water, to the serious damage of the plaintiff. Judge Reynolds issued an order to Montoya to show cause why the injunction asked should not issue. The court was occupied practically all day with the case of the Albedon Land and Town company vs. A. J. Frank, continued over from yesterday. At the close of today's session the case had not been completed.

MORTUARY.

Funeral. The funeral of the late Henry F. Laballe will be held tomorrow, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the French chapel on Central avenue. The remains are to be sent to Denver tomorrow evening for cremation.

Most Unique House in World to Hang on Brink of the Grand Canyon

Santa Fe Railroad Begins Construction of Observatory from Which Visitors May Look Down a Mile Into Great Chasm.

ALL HARSHIP BANISHED FROM
VISIT TO HOTEL EL TOVAR ON CLIFF'S EDGE

Glass Enclosed Pavillion Hanging on Brink of Precipice Will Have All Comforts of a City Club.

Plans have been completed and the contracts let by the Santa Fe railroad for what will be the most unique building in the west and one of the remarkable structures of the world. It is an observatory, enclosed in glass which is to be set up right on the sheer edge of one of the overhanging cliffs at the head of Bright Angel trail, from which the visitor in the Tika of Chasms may look almost straight down into the canyon for a mile, and with the naked eye or a convenient telescope study the canyon for many miles.

It was thought that the name of convenience and comfort had been reached for canyon visitors when the El Tovar hotel was built and furnished with all the trimmings of the best of metropolitan hotels. But in winter there are periods when the weather is rough and when there is more or less discomfort in standing on the brink of the canyon exposed to the mountain air.

A large portion of tourists who go to the canyon travel westward in winter and it was for their comfort that the observatory, as it will be called, was planned.

Literally it is to be a glass house, although built to conform in its architecture with the hotel. It will be located just 200 yards to the left of the hotel, its foundations sunk in the solid rock of a huge limestone cliff which projects fifty feet out over the canyon, and giving an unobstructed view not only down into the depths but for many miles up and down and across the chasm.

Both sides and the ends of the building will be enclosed in heavy plate glass modeled after the view of the modern French door, reaching to the solid rock of the cliff.

GAME GIRLS WILL FIGHT IT OUT WITH WHITECAPS

Buy Revolvers Loaded for Bear; Collins Clan Preparing for Battle to the Death.

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.]
Springfield, Mo., Dec. 15.—Members of the Collins family of Old Horton in Howell county, whose homes were raided last Saturday by feud enemies of the family, are arming themselves and barricading their houses in preparation for a "battle to the death" according to reports brought here today.

Parale Collins, the young woman who was backed with switches and ordered to leave the state on pain of death, appeared in West Plains last night, accompanied by Mary Dick Collins, another young woman who was ordered out of the state. After supplying themselves with army revolvers and ammunition, the women departed, saying they intended to return to Old Horton and "fight it out."

According to reports here great excitement prevails in the isolated village and a second visit of the raiders would mean a pitched battle. It is said the band of raiders was made up of citizens of the community.

TWO PROPOSALS

California and other states, where all delegates are elected at large and only declare that the total number named in the call must be chosen by any state which has such a law.

Resolutions were adopted to admit Senator Cummins and Representative Woods of Iowa, of the Republican congressional committee to the conference.

Chairman Warren, of the law committee, then moved the adoption of the first resolution proposing a national convention and the debate began. Senator Cummins appealed for the calling of a national convention. While he did not disavow the alternative proposition of referring a re-organization plan to the states he believed that such a plan would not impress the public generally as strongly as would a convention.

"I realize," said Senator Cummins, "that in a national convention we may encounter danger. We ought to meet it face to face like men. If we are brave enough to stand for the principles of the Republican party, we ought to be courageous enough to stand face to face with each other and discuss these principles and what principles we may have for the future. I am not saying here that there should be a general political platform adopted at this special convention, but I do believe that the convention should meet and issue an address to the American people that will produce an effect and bring support to the Republican cause that cannot be brought in any other way. If you don't go through this open door of opportunity that is now presented, that door may not open again."

Governor Hatfield of West Virginia urged a special convention to be called immediately and suggested that it meet on Lincoln's birthday or "that the Republican party might be re-dedicated to him."

"The vital question before us," said William Barnes, Jr. of New York, "is the election of a Republican senate and house of representatives in 1914. I favor holding a national convention for the purpose of showing through such a gathering why the Republican party meets the needs of the people. The Republican party has nothing to apologize for."

Charles A. Spence of New Mexico, pleaded for a convention next year for the purpose of adopting a platform. He said what the party needed now was a platform which would "not tell what the Republican party has done for the country but will tell what the Democratic party is now doing to the people."
